

Sacral Communication and Healing Network of EASA
5th Summer Course in Organizational Anthropology
7-9 September 2017, Nagykőrös, Hungary.

The Sacral Communication and Healing Network of EASA held its fifth Summer Course in the field of Organizational anthropology in 7-9 September, 2017 in Nagykőrös, Hungary. The lecturers were invited from U.K., Sweden, Romania, Austria, Hungary and USA.

Topics of Organizational ecology (László Pólos Durham University, UK), Culture and coaching (Edit Kajtár (Wirtschaftsuniversität Wien,) Personalism and the Workers' Movements (Balázs Borsos, Tirgu Mures, Romania), and the theme of organizational aufstellung offered a wide-angle view and different perspectives of corporations.

The Saturday program included lectures about various realities of the alternative „organizational worlds” in the field of the complementary medicine by Alex Roedlach (Creighton University Omaha), the neopagan movements and their myths (László Hubbes PhD Sapientia University Mercurea Ciuc, Romania) and the Network organizations of the Nomadic societies (Borbála Obrusánszky (Károli Gáspár University, Budapest). The closing lecture was given by László Kürti about the embodiment and the dance anthropology.

The summer course was co-organized with the Central East European Society of Behavioral Medicine with their blocks of behavioral sciences.

The various themes focusing on the ontological and spiritual issues, and the alternative cultural realities of organizations, just as the problems of embodiment of different organizational realities helped the renew some aspects of our view of organisational anthropology.